My experience with learning poker through the limits has been this:

at every level, you

learn something new

At first, you don't know why it works... but you do know THAT it works. For example, how much to value bet.

Then you start to realize other people at that level are using that trick and how to exploit it... why it's working, how it works... the math behind it... and just every little thing.

When you see some guy floating another guy on 2 streets and then shoving his entire stack on the river... why is he doing that? Did some kinda random draw come in and he's hoping for a call? Is the first guy really aggressive, does he have a low showdown percent? Is it some kind of combination of all of the above?

Is his bet when lead turn % 85?

What do those #'s even mean at that limit?

Pretty much, high-stakes pros aren't high stakes pros because they know fancy moves. They're pros because they understand those "fancy" moves. FOR THE MOST PART I think even high stakes pros value just solid steady play. For them, the more simple they can keep their actions the more eV their actions are.

That being said,

their simple actions are very complex... but things like 4-bet shoving loose 3-bettors with ATC is a very valueable play. These plays work because they understand that their opponents see the stats they have... that they can't put them on a bluff and because the chance that the 3-bettor has a bad hand is a very likely.

If for some reason, people @100NL don't like folding to their 4-bet shoves when they have low suited connectors... they're going to figure this out and say "well, there's no point in 4-betting this guy because he's going to call with his JTos and be a favorite." The other thing you need to realize if that's the case is that they're just going to play their huge hands for stacks... why not just dump in 100bb against some laggrotard with AQos? If he's going to 3-bet you with JTos... then why not stick it in?

There are so many dynamics of poker that average players don't realize... it's insane. The best clue I can give you is to look at every stat available in hold'em manager and realize that ALL OF THEM have a purpose.
